A HISTORICAL TALK AND DISCUSSION

Marriage & Mayhem in the Sunshine State

The Duke of Sutherland and his 2nd wife, Mary Caroline "May" Blair, had lives worthy of a period drama. Traveling to the upper Pinellas peninsula from England in the late 1800s, these Victorian celebrities married at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Dunedin. They became residents and built a home near Lake Tarpon. An exhibit at Palm Harbor Museum delves into this global drama. Join the exhibit creator Anne-Maire Nurnberger to learn how the actions of the Duke and his Duchess started one of the biggest scandals in British society, rocked the establishment, and upset Queen Victoria herself.
